Four Allies Conditionally Accept Surrender Proposal

Peace Efforts Fail To Halt Russian Drive

Mighty Red Army Surges
Ahead Regardless Of Conditional Jap Surrender
Offer

AMUR RIVER IS BEING CROSSED

MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The mighty Red army drive into northwest Manchuria surged across the Amur river at a new point today as Russian broadcasts urged the "merciless destruction of the enemy," despite Japan's offer of conditional surrender.

Troops of Russia for eastern army cleared river bank towns in block-to-block fighting after storming the Amur under the protection of powerful Soviet gunboats. Russian troops crossed the Amur at two other points yesterday.

Japanese fortifications hurriedly built at the river banks as Russian soldiers swarmed ashore to engage the river bank defenders at bayonet point.

At the same time, other Soviet forces slammed deeper into the Klinkan Shan foothills of Empress Hirohito's vassal state.

Nowhere in the Soviet capital were there official indications that the Russian army would halt their drive into stolen Jap territory until an actual truce was effected between the allied powers and Japan.

The Soviets toppled two enemy strongholds in the northwestern Manchurian border area in their sweeping advances. It was here the Russians scored a previous victory in the border incidents of 1939 when 60,000 Japanese were reported wiped out.

State Of Siege
At the same time, Tokyo clamped a state of siege on the Kwantung peninsula area of Korea which earlier Soviet communiques declared had been invaded by Red army troops streaming down from the maritime provinces to the north.

The FCC reports a Tokyo announcement which said that the Dairenport Arthur area, which together with the Kwantung peninsula was won from the Russians in 1904, was "without military objectives."

Japanese People Being Prepared For Defeat Shock

(International News Service)
The Japanese people apparently were being prepared today for the shock telling them that Japan had sued for peace.

Editorials in leading Japanese newspapers exhorted them "to uphold dignity worthy of Japan's ancient history and tradition no matter what sudden change may occur in the international situation."

Domestic radio broadcasts in Japan have not mentioned the Japanese offer to the allies.

Working On Plans For Reconversion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The American people hold more than 219 billion dollars today as a "rainy-day nest-egg" against the likelihood of a V-J day reconversion which will affect directly less than eight million workers.

A survey of government planners, working feverishly on a program to recover the nation's economy to peace, revealed three five important linkages against disaster on the road back.

Huge Assets
1. Individuals and business concerns now have at least 219 billion dollars liquid assets. This means cash, bank deposits and government securities. It is size exceeds the sixty-two billion 400 million dollars outstanding last May 31 in stocks and bonds.

2. Continuation of price rent and modified wage controls beyond V-J day as a safeguard against inflation until such time as a healthy, full-functioning civilian economy is restored.

3. Less than eight million workers. (Continued on Page Two)

Petain Trial Verdict To Be Given Tuesday

PARIS, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The verdict in the trial of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain will be broadcast from a microphone on the judges' desk next Tuesday night.

The procedure of broadcasting a verdict is a new page in French court history.

As the treason trial of the aged marshal went into its 18th day, Prosecutor Andre Monnet said he would use the entire session summing up his case against Petain.

Monnet bitterly denounced Petain in his opening remarks to the jammed court room.

Gen. MacArthur Makes Plans To Occupy Japan

MANILA, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Gen. MacArthur today issued preparations for a speedy occupation of Japan as he told a cheering throng of soldiers and sailors he hoped the end of the war was at hand.

"The London Daily Mail said today it is understood," Gen. MacArthur will be nominated to accept the surrender of the Japanese general staff.

But before that, he must be able to return home soon.

At least one more body was believed buried today in the wreckage of Great Northern railway's Empire Builder as officials counted 34 dead in the crash.

The week occurred Thursday night when the first section of the railroad's passenger express halted because of a hot box and was derailed by the second section before trainmen could place warning flares.

At least half of the dead were service men and women.

At least two score other persons were injured in the crash, ten of them seriously.

ALLIES ON GUARD AGAINST TREACHERY

(Bulletin)
GUAM, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Adm. Chester W. Nimitz declared today that offensive action by all forces in Pacific Ocean areas shall be continued against the Japs unless otherwise specifically directed.

Neither the Japanese nor the Allies, the fleet admiral's statement said, have stopped fighting.

Nimitz warned that vigilance against Japanese attacks and treachery should be maintained and ordered that caution be exercised even if general surrender should be announced suddenly.

Air Force Hits Tottering Japan

MANILA, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The air war against tottering Japan continued today with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's air forces striking scattered targets in Japan and occupied areas throughout the western Pacific.

A spokesman for the five-starred American general emphasized there would be no stopping of our efforts until peace is declared.

Targets of today's aerial operations were not disclosed immediately by MacArthur's headquarters, but the Japanese Domei news agency reported that about 150 bombs and flares from Okinawa (once called Kure) and adjacent areas on Kyushu this morning.

The allied commander in chief of his rare public appearance said to the large crowd of servicemen gathered beneath the balcony of his office.

"I hope from the bottom of my heart that this is the end of the war. If it is it is due to your splendid efforts. I hope we shall all be able to return home soon."

But before that, he must be able to return home soon.

Crashed and sunk in Chesapeake Bay, near Baltimore, Md., while on a test run, the 72-ton flying boat 'Hawaii Mars' is shown being lifted from the water. ### Call For Congress Session Expected If Jap War Ends

Expect Peace Would Halt
Draft And Release Part
Of Force In Armed Services

WAR CONTRACTS WOULD BE ENDED

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Senate majority leader Alben Barkley announced at the White House today that congress will be reconvened immediately after Labor Day.

Barkley made the announcement after a lengthy conference with President Truman. He said that congress probably will reconvene September 4.

The senator said that congress will be called back at that time regardless of the situation concerning the war with Japan.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Congress is likely to be recalled in September to do its part in the most significant reconversion program in the nation's history if the Japanese surrender offer is accepted.

Some legislators today picked Tuesday, September 4, the day after Labor Day, as the most likely date for congress to reconvene. Key committees are working on the bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The American reconversion of troops and transfer of material from the European theater to the Pacific theater continued without interruption today despite Japan's surrender proposals.

A spokesman at American headquarters said that the schedules would not be changed until they had received official notification that hostilities had ceased.

Door Left Open For Hirohito To Stay On Throne

Government Of Japan Must Be By Expressed Will
Of Japanese People

PEACE OFFER REPLY SAYS ALLIES DICTATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The United States announced today that the "Big Four" have accepted Japan's unconditional surrender proposal, with a proviso that Emperor Hirohito remain on the throne but under control of an allied army of occupation.

The "Big Four" insisted too that Hirohito's future be determined in a popular election "by the freely expressed will of the Japanese people."

This is in line with the Atlantic Charter and the Potsdam ultimatum.

The Big Four expressed declared that the emperor must carry out every phase of the unconditional surrender.

The allied reply to Japan's surrender proposal contained a complete reply to high American military authorities who insisted that the emperor be kept on the throne to carry out the surrender.

Chaos Would Rule
Otherwise, the military authorities declared chaos would rule throughout the Japanese empire and tens of thousands of American troops would be required to maintain order.

Tokyo's Papers
Giving Publicity
To Crown Prince

Universal publicity is being given in Tokyo's Saturday newspapers to the Crown Prince, Akihito, 15-year-old, heir-apparent to the Japanese throne.

The Jap Domei news agency, according to the FCC, reported that the emperor's future and status about the crown prince were prominently displayed in Tokyo newspapers.

It was possible the Japanese were hesitating to follow the pattern set by Italy when that European nation capitulated.

Pattern in Italy
It was recalled that when Italy surrendered, King Victor Emmanuel met the demands for abdication by appointing Crown Prince Umberto, 44-year-old, to the throne. Although King Emmanuel stepped down from the throne, he did not abdicate, but passed to the crown prince the responsibilities of rulership.

From that time on, he may not be expected to play a similar role in event some of the Allies demand Emperor Hirohito step aside.

Domei's account of what Tokyo newspapers are saying about Akihito was directed to America, according to the FCC. Earlier the Jap news agency had had a special household staff had been created for the crown prince.

Allied Head To Take Command When Japan Quits

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—The White House announced today that the allied supreme commander who will be in complete command when and if Japan accepts the Big Four surrender terms will be an American general.

Presidential secretary Charles G. Ross said that he could not disclose at this time who that commander will be.

It is safe to speculate that that commander will be Gen. MacArthur. He replied that he could not make any comment on the identity of the allied supreme commander.

camp in November 1944. Transferred to the 53-year-old lieutenant general were 17 other general officers, 11 Army colonels, six Navy captains, and 34 enlisted men, all captured when Correll fell.

Major James P. Devereaux of Chevy Chase, Md., who led the heroic but futile fight at Wake Island which resulted in the nation's heaviest military loss at Shanghai. More than 400 military personnel were captured on Wake Island two weeks after Pearl Harbor, along with an estimated 1,000 civilian construction workers.

Mystery surrounded the fate and whereabouts of the 18,000 American soldiers captured at Bataan in April 1942 after a four-month fight against odds. Only a few thousand were liberated after Gen. Douglas MacArthur recaptured the Philippines.

WORKING ON PLANS FOR RECONVERSION

ers of the fifty-one million profitably employed outside the armed forces will be affected directly by the wholesale cancellation of war contracts and the accompanying reconversion to peacetime pursuits.

Some Can Recover Quickly

4. Many industries can "reconvert" instantly and will have only to change customers—steel, lumber, transportation, tobacco, soap, electrical fats and oils, textiles and railroad equipment industries.

5. Many other industries can

"reconvert" overnight, needing no new machinery and possibly only a change in designs, furniture, hosiery, shoes, chemicals, etc.

These factors do not mean, however, that V-J day and the unwinding of the gigantic American war machine will not have a serious impact on the economy. A sudden end of the Japanese war will bring serious industrial dislocations.

One high government official estimated that for approximately four to six months after V-J day employment will steadily decline before peacetime production hits its real stride and an upswing can start.

The same source stated that the revamping of government plans for an emergency V-J day is "moving along quite well." He said the various war agencies are "in pretty good shape" on their plans for removing certain control and relaxing others.

CALL FOR CONGRESS SESSION EXPECTED IF JAP WAR ENDS

ment, however, probably would be called back earlier.

Wholesale Releases Of Men

It is expected that proclamation of peace would result in an immediate halt of the draft and wholesale release of men from the armed services.

While the draft law is effective until six months after the war, and armies or occupation are needed, members of Congress generally set sentiment would force an end to conscription.

Wholesale cancellation of war contracts, it is believed, also would follow a declaration of end of the war with Japan.

Can't "Stretch" Contracts

A provision of the reconversion law, passed October 3, 1944, is designed to prevent "stretching out" contracts just to provide jobs.

While Congress has enacted much legislation governing the physical part of reconversion, Democratic senate leader Barkley is on record as saying that more legislation is needed for the "human side" of reconversion.

Congress provided means of speedily settling cancelled war contracts and removal of government machinery from a plant so that it could reconvert. It also provided for advances to state unemployment funds if they suddenly are drained.

Pending legislation, however, includes President Truman's recommendation for a $25 a week grant for 26 weeks to an unemployed war worker.

Measures designed to provide employment include the so-called "full employment" bill, public housing and airport construction bills and appropriations for highway, rivers and harbors and other public projects.

lives would be sacrificed in efforts to occupy the enemy nation.

The reply made public in Washington by Secretary of State Byrnes was transmitted to Japan through the government of Switzerland. The Swiss had transmitted the Japanese surrender offer to the United States.

The United States spoke for all "Big Four" nations. Their views were exchanged in the preceding 24 hours and a complete accord reached as promised at the Tehran conference.

The "Big Four" again informed Japan that the Potsdam peace terms must be carried out to the letter. This means destruction of Japan's war-making powers, occupation of the home islands, surrender of war criminals and release of all prisoners. Eventually, Japan may re-enter the family of nations once it constitutes a peace-loving government acceptable to the allies.

Now Up To Japan

The next step is up to Japan.

The "Big Four" await her reply. Highest authorities in Washington expect Japan to accept. They anticipate the announcement will be made late Sunday or Monday that the war is ended.

Hirohito can remain on the throne, but the ultimate form of Japan's government, the American note declared in uncompromising terms, must be established by the freely expressed will of the Japanese people.

Could Retain Emperor

This means that the Japanese people could retain their emperor if they wished.

The Allied reply was transmitted by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes through the Swiss government.

The Japanese were sternly informed that:

"From the moment of surrender the authority of the emperor and the Japanese government to rule the state shall be subject to the supreme commander of the Allied powers who will take such steps as he deems proper to effectuate the surrender terms."

The note forcibly emphasized that Emperor Hirohito must use his imperial authority in carrying out the full provisions of the Potsdam ultimatum.

Terms Of Reply

The terse reply stated:

"The emperor will be required to authorize and insure the signature by the government of Japan and the Japanese imperial general headquarters of the surrender terms necessary to carry out the provisions of the Potsdam declaration, and shall issue his commands to all the Japanese military, naval and air authorities and to all the forces under their control where ever located to cease active operations and to surrender their arms, and to accept such other orders as the supreme commander may require to give effect to the surrender terms."

The note was uncompromising in putting Japan on notice that when the Allies take over in Japan they will make all the decisions.

To Free Prisoners

"Immediately upon the surrender the Japanese government shall transport prisoners of war and civilian internees to places of safety, separated where first can quickly be placed aboard Allied transports, the note further stated.

Then it declared:

"The ultimate term of government of Japan shall, in accordance with the Potsdam declaration, be established by the freely expressed will of the Japanese people."

This permitted the Japanese people themselves to decide their future form of government under Emperor Hirohito, or under any other type they may choose.

The Japanese were told bluntly:

"The armed forces of the Allied powers will remain in Japan until the purposes set forth in the Potsdam declaration are achieved."

This told the Japanese that their government by lawless international war had bent on world conquest will be ended.

It also emphasized that the war criminals responsible for the Japanese attack upon Pearl Harbor and the brutalities to Allied prisoners of war and civilians will be dealt with sternly.

The Allies insist that Japan's power to make war in the future will be strictly abolished, and that all the territories Japan has taken in her career of conquest dating back a half century will be taken from her.

Represents Allied Views

Byrnes' note was transmitted through the Swiss Charge d'Affaires Max Grassi. The action was taken at the direction of President Truman and the note asserted, represents the views of the governments of the United States, the United Kingdom, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and China.

This "discredited" earlier reports that Moscow and Chungking insisted on the abolition of the emperor.

The note was made public a short while after Secretary Byrnes had come to the White House to inform the President that the view of the American government on the acceptance of Japanese surrender was acceptable to the other major Allied powers.

While the note did not mark the ## ultimate termination of hostilities

It apparently paved the way for the speed end of the war.

It was recalled that it took almost 12 hours after Dornier flashed news to the world of its surrender proposal for the message to reach the State department in Washington. Presumably the same length of time may be expected in returning the historic document.

ACTION AGAINST JAPANESE WILL BE CONTINUED

tions placed on the admiral's statement at Guam.

One was that Nimitz' order was probably the result of word from the United States—perhaps from the joint chiefs of staff—that Tokyo's surrender offer, which hinged on retention of the emperor, either had been rejected or had a long road to go before it could be accepted.

Likely Safeguard

The other was that the fleet admiral's order was a safeguard against the possibility that Japan would take advantage of a temporary cessation of hostilities—however unofficial—to launch suicidal attacks aimed at the poised invasion forces.

Admiral Nimitz' brief statement left the status of the war exactly as it was before Japan offered to surrender to the United States, Britain, Russia and China provided the Japanese can keep their Mikado.

His warning of possible treachery came even as representatives of the four Allied powers presumably still conferring on the Nipponese peace offer.

It was presumed that similar orders were going out to the fighting men of other theaters of command including those of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and possibly to China-India-Burma forces.

Certainly from radio reports picked up on Guam, the Russians were continuing the war without pause.

And now the U. S. fight to the death against Japan is on again after an 8-hour undeclared truce.

dence in Japanese tradition and culture.

Other newspapers, including Asahi, Mainichi Shimbun and the Nippon Sangyo Keishi, carried similar editorial.

NBC monitors in San Francisco heard Tokyo radio this morning quoting the newspaper editorials, one of which urged the Japanese people against what was termed "feeling of despair and melancholy."

No Mention Of Peace

American broadcast company monitors heard another Jap announcer also reading editorials declaring "We Japanese must not sacrifice the future of the race by being enslaved by predatory sentimental feelings."

A Tokyo broadcast to her home and empire audiences at 1:01 P. M. (12:31 A. M. EDT) in Japanese failed to mention the peace pact.

The federal communications commission monitors reported that all other Japanese-language broadcasts up to that hour similarly had omitted any mention of Tokyo's willingness to accept the terms of the Potsdam ultimatum.

However, the London Daily Telegraph reported that Chungking had seized upon a broadcast from Tokyo saying that Japanese news had broken out in the Japanese capital when the first broadcast of the surrender proposals were made.

The Chungking report, however, was not heard by allied monitors in any other country. The brief Chinese report the Daily Telegraph said quoted Tokyo as saying that the disorders quickly were suppressed.

Veterans Docking In New York Are Overjoyed Today

Fifteen thousand European veterans, convinced that their fighting days are over, roared their jubilation today as they arrived in New York aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

The troops, most of them members of the Eighth Air Force, were notified of the Jap surrender offer at sea yesterday. Most of them were told when they left Europe that they would be re-deployed to the Pacific after triumph at home.

Paper streamers were hung into the air and hundreds of seaweed bouquets flung on the deck as the men shouted their belief that the war was over for them.

The Elizabeth carried 1,801 Navy personnel and 974 Dutch Marines in addition to the air force men.

Lt. Waddington Home From Europe

Must Continue Research Into Bomb Uses In Peacetime

Britain And U. S. Face Gigantic Problem Of Keeping Atomic Bomb Secrets In Future

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—America and Great Britain faced the gigantic problem today of keeping secret details of the devastating atomic bomb while continuing research into possible peace-time uses of the great newly discovered source of power.

Deadliness of the atomic bomb was demonstrated in just two raids on the Japanese mainland in which the hearts of Nagasaki and Hiroshima virtually disappeared in clouds of smoke, vapor and dust.

President Truman told the nation and the world that the United States and Great Britain had decided to keep the bomb a secret for fear it would fall into lawless hands and be used for wanton destruction in the future.

Experimenting For Years
Scientists have been experimenting for years with nuclear energy and undoubtedly would have developed methods of controlling and using it, but the need for it as a weapon speeded up the process for perhaps a decade or more.

According to scientists some benefits helpful to mankind still remain locked in the laboratories which finally discovered how atomic energy could be used to wipe out men and material. These scientists point out, however, that costly experiments will have to be continued and possibly used as a source of power to run machines and perhaps supply light.

More optimistic experts contend that eventually this energy under proper control may replace common fuel for power in motors. It also may have great possibilities in fighting disease.

Expect Russia Will Become One Of Naval Powers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(INS)—High American officials today expect Russia to become a major naval power after the war to assume a role in international trade denied her prior to the present conflict.

It will be the first time the Soviet has assumed such a role. The World War I and will emphasize her growing position of importance in world affairs. In fact Russia has not had a fleet of major importance since the Russo-Japanese war at the turn of the century when the Russian fleet suffered one of the greatest naval defeats in history.

Russia's determination to resume her major role as a maritime power has been revealed largely by her insistence on many phases of the peace. It is expected to be accompanied in the far eastern peace settlement.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

I have no quarrels but this is causing lots of hurt feelings and I am wondering, if I have to do all the punishing, whether the baby will think I am a tyrant and turn to his dad.

"Baby loves me and we laugh and sing and love together and he loves his daddy too, but will he train him to do any good, or should I just keep on Saturday and Sunday as I do through the week? When he grows older will he learn that he must do things right regardless? I am enclosing two extra stamped envelopes. Please send me the bulletins you think I should have."

Doctor's Reply

I sent her "Stubbornness: its prevention and correction." "Fathers are parents too," and my selected list of books from which to read to the baby. As I wrote this mother, the father's failure to help you when he is home to manage that youngster in the effective way you manage him when alone, will naturally impede your progress with him. Nevertheless, if you are consistent in your procedure and fondle the child a lot when he is good and enjoy him as a person, and if the father will not directly interfere when you find it necessary to punish that for in his presence, your ways should eventually prevail.

Let Dad take responsibility for the child while he is home. No better way for him to see the superiority of your ways. Soon you may be able to substitute for spanking having this lot sit in a chair for 15 minutes where you can see him. The father might be more ready to administer this sort of punishment himself once you get the child trained to adapt well to it while he is alone with you.

Don't criticize Dad in the child's presence for his laxness. Praise him for his success at entertaining the little tyke. As you find more ways to win the child's cooperation through positive suggestions, you will need to punish him less. The less you punish him, the more inclined will the father be to step in. Anyway the older this child grows, the more need the father will see for his wholesome discipline.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

The view of an honest and able man who wants to deal with the subject in the national interests as a whole.

IT IS this in contrast with the ideas of a considerable number of Democratic and Republican members of the House, all of whom came up for re-nomination and election next year. These emphatically do not want to wait for a tax reduction bill until after the war ends. Regardless of the war situation, they advocate large tax cuts in 1946 which in no means will be merely on corporate taxes though they are thinking for some sort in them. On the contrary, they urge the winding out of the "consumption taxes" on liquor, cigarettes, gasoline, etc., and also a ten to fifteen per cent cut in the withholding taxes be made at once and a general lowering of rates on the lower income brackets. This is the political idea. It comes from men who believe it will mean votes if they can go before their constituents with a record of having either reduced or tried to reduce their taxes all along the line.

THIS group takes no thought of balancing income with outgo. Apparently it is willing to continue piling up larger and larger deficits and higher and higher debts on the silly theory that there is no danger in that because "we owe the debt to ourselves." Inoculated years ago with the old "soak the rich and give the poor a free ride" tax doctrine, they are either blind or indifferent to fiscal realities. The third group of tax thinkers approach the matter with no thought of politics. They contend that when the size of our debt and the immense problems of carrying it without bogging down are considered it is criminal to mix taxes with politics. To do so is to enhance greatly the danger of a collapse of the whole Federal financial structure. To swing a debt of more than 300 billions is the greatest peacetime task any nation ever faced.

WHAT this group urges is a ten-year tax program which will let everybody know what to expect. The first feature of this plan is a 10 per cent reduction of any kind for the first year after the war. With the seven-to-eight per cent property tax and as inevitable existing tax rates for the first year will produce revenues in excess of expenditures, sufficiently not only to meet, the rush of millions of small war-bond holders to redeem, but to reduce the actual debt by from 15 to 20 billion. Beginning the second year, the plan is to reduce excess profit taxes by 15 to 20 per cent and reduce rates on the lowest brackets to some extent. From then on for eight years the reduction would be by degrees each year on all brackets. This is urged as the intelligent way of dealing with the tax problem. Such a plan will not only give the Government plenty of cash to redeem all bonds presented but to cut down the debt itself by more than one hundred billion dollars in ten years.

THUS the budget could really be balanced and surplus funds could be Federal finances regained. If there is any other way to regain control of our runaway finances it has not been suggested. Senator George plan is in that direction but hardly goes far enough. The congressional plan is in the other direction. Those now clamoring for a 1946 reduction on corporation, individual and excise taxes sleep soundly and are monkeying with a very explosive situation. In the end, the minor business will be up to Mr. Truman. Either he will acquiesce in the political approach to this matter of taxes or he will supply the leadership necessary to put through one of the other proposals. When we know Mr. Truman's attitude on this issue we will know a lot more about what kind of man Mr. Truman really is and what kind of President he will be.

Garden Notes

When digging potatoes, do not let them lie too long in the sun after drying. Move them into shade, or better still, darkness.

Late in the season the tips of squash, pumpkin and summer squash can be snipped off to make the fruit more attractive.

Parsnips, sals, thyme and other herbs should be cut made into small bunches and hung to dry in the attic.

Entire plants may be lifted with a ball of earth about the roots and stored in a cool cellar. This will extend the season two or three weeks.

Raspberries and blackberry plants can be cut out and over work at the best time next spring. The soil must be well drained, however, or winter heaving may cause considerable loss of plants.

Collect and burn all diseased and pest infected tools, stems, leaves or fruits from your Victory garden. Don't leave old tops of plants lying around to carry over insects and diseases.

THE PUBLIC SUGAR BOWL
The public sugar bowl seems to be disappearing from many eating places.

It looks like a good way to spread diseases when each person uses his own spoon to dip into the sugar bowl.

Some one who has a cold, tastes his coffee then dips into the sugar bowl. You come along next and get his germs with your spoonful of sugar.

In a few days you wonder where you caught your cold.

It is a good way to spread tonsillitis and tuberculosis and maybe rheumatism.

Let us hope that the public sugar bowl will disappear like the old wooden bucket.

Emperor's Horse Is Yankee; Comes From California

Milk-White Steed Which Halsey
Wants To Ride Was Bred In San Joaquin Valley

COMPTON, Calif., Aug. 11.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito's famous milk-white steed, which Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey hopes to ride down the main street of Tokyo, was revealed today to be a California-bred horse.

Dewey H. Burden, Compton business-man, sold the horse to the "Son of Heaven" in 1940 for a "fabulous sum," he said.

Burden's nephew, Fritz Turan, former world champion cowboy who later joined the Marines, broke the horse to ride. Turan was killed in action at Iwo Jima.

The horse, now about eight years old, weighs about 940 pounds. Burden said it was bred and raised in San Joaquin Valley.

Shows Purty

In 1940 the Japs were looking for a pure white horse for the emperor. It had to be white to represent the purity of his highness," Burden related.

The Japanese consul, through K. Shimizu, a Fresno Jap farmer, came to see me about Silver Tim—that's his name. He handed me a check signed by the emperor and told me to fill in the amount.

The horse was shipped to Tokyo and Frank Leroy, one of Burden's employees, was loaned to the emperor for six months to teach his highness to ride.

Another nephew of Burden's, who is a seaman aboard Admiral Halsey's flagship, is the man who suggested to the admiral that he ride the horse in Tokyo.

Free Filigenzi Of Theft Charge

Sam Filigenzi, North Cherry street, was freed of a charge that he had robbed the State Liquor store, Seventh ward in May, according to Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna today. He had been arrested recently and charged with the offense. Friday the chief requested Alderman James C. Brice to dismiss the complaint which was done.

The chief stated he had authorized the arrest of Filigenzi because of a statement by Joe Marchione, North Wayne street youth that Filigenzi was among the men who robbed the store. Marchione went so far as to confront Filigenzi. However, yesterday he confessed he had told a lie about Filigenzi to police to gain leniency in his own case, having confessed recently the chief said to having robbed the St. Marguerite society clubroom of liquor several times.

The chief also stated he had ordered the release of a Youngstown youth who was held for quizzing in connection with the liquor store theft.

The horse ran the distance in 1:40 flat at River Downs, Cincinnati, O. Apprentice Larry Stroud has been set down a second time at Detroit. William Helis, $66,000 beauty, Pericles, hasn't run a race. Willie Balazs, who has clinched honors as top jockey at Suffolk, N. Y., since 11-year-old campaigner, has been retired. Apache, the handicapper horse, has won $24,240 this year.

This is a big year for bowling. It's the 50th anniversary of the founding of the American Bowling Congress in 1895. Many celebrations and observances are planned by the nation's bowling groups. Alley soon will be going full blast as league play begins in early September. ## Big Field Will Tee-Off Sunday In Open Tourney

Hundred Of Leading Golfers From Western Pennsylvania And Eastern

From 8:30 a. m. until dark Sunday, over 100 of the leading golfers from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio will come away at Sylvan Heights, tough pars in an effort to capture the $100 war bond offered as first prize in the open invitation tournament scheduled for that day.

The course is in splendid condition for play, and the splendid field assures some fine golf being played.

Last year's tournament was won by John Paskowski of Pittsburgh, with a card of 145, one over par for the course, with four others tied for second place at 147.

Entries have been received from Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, in Ohio, the Beaver Valley, Pittsburgh, Sharon, Greensburg, and Ellwood City in Pennsylvania, together with many local golfers who have been shooting around par all summer.

All arrangements for the event have been completed, and officers of the Sylvan Heights Golf league, which is sponsoring the tournament, together with members of the advisory board and golfers from the course will play host to the visitors.

A total of $400 in prizes is being offered to the winners.

Because of the tournament, regular play will not be possible at Sylvan Heights course Sunday, until after 3:30 o'clock. Manager Sam Hawcock announces. As soon as the last of the tournament entrants get started off on their second round, the course will be open for public play again.

Bethany Lutheran Church Will Have V-J Day Services

In Bethany Lutheran church, East Washington and Linton streets, whenever peace is officially declared by President Truman, a service of thanksgiving for the end of the war will be held.

If the proclamation should come today, the service will be held at the usual hour, 10:45 a. m. Sunday morning.

Special prayers, in addition to those of thanksgiving, will be offered for those who have died in this country's service, for the President, and for the United Nations.

This solemn service will be brought to a close with the traditional hymn of thanksgiving, "Te Deum."
